Florence Clark, Ph.D., OTR/L, FAOTA currently serves as President of the American Occupational Therapy Association. A widely published and noted scholar, her research and pedagogical interests over the past two decades have largely centered on the relationship of activity and lifestyle to health and wellness. Her recent scholarly activity centers on the design of lifestyle interventions for various populations such as independent-living older adults, business executives, persons with weight concerns, and individuals with spinal cord injury.

Appointed as a charter member of the Academy of Research of the American Occupational Therapy Association, Dr. Clark has served as special consultant to the U.S. Army Surgeon General, been on the board of the National Center for Medical Rehabilitation Research and been the recipient of an Eleanor Clarke Slagle Lectureship. In 1999, the American Occupational Therapy Association honored her with its Award of Merit and in 2001 she received a lifetime achievement award from the Occupational Therapy Association of California.

In 2004 she received the Presidential Medallion from the University of Southern California, its ultimate honor, awarded to those who have brought distinction and honor to the University.

Women in Management (WIM) was formed in 1979 in response to the need for an organization for women in leadership positions at the University of Southern California. Originally composed of about 20 visionary women, WIM now boasts a membership of over 120 women. <http://www.usc.edu/org/wim/index.html>
